The passing month was marked by our hugely successful "Investment Expert Conference 2014". Close to 250 professionals attended the conference that aimed at providing information and views on the outlook of the global economy and of the various investment asset classes. An important focus for the Conference was the diversification strategies and the various investment tools and methodologies available to institutional investors, like the Cypriot Provident Funds. A number of distinguished speakers shared their views and much of the conference content can be found on our website [link]. For those of you unable to attend, please find below an abstract of the welcoming message presented by our Managing Director, Dr Mike Balm, who chaired the conference.
